TOKENS - AN ELECTION LOST

William Jennings Bryan, the Democratic presidential candidate of 1896, may well be the only man in American history to lose the Presidency because of a token campaign.

Bryan, the so-called "Silver Candidate", and the Democratic Party had proposed a bimetal monetary standard that would fix the value ratio of silver to gold at sixteen to one. This proposal would increase the price of silver by forty-seven cents an ounce, and set the value of the dollar at fifty-three cents.

William McKinley, the Republican presidential candidate, and the Republican Party did not miss the opportunity to chastise Bryan and his proposal. They forecasted for America a period of famine, recession and depression that would overtake the nation if the "Silver Candidate" and his fanciful silver proposal were to win the presidential election.

As a result of the Republican Party's efforts in the 1896 campaign, many tokens bearing their dogmatic derogatory legends appeared in varying compositions and sizes. These legends read from, "In God We Trust, In Bryan We Bust" and "Free Silver, 53% Purchasing Power", to "Free Trade - Free Silver - Free Hell".

These tokens had a most certain effect on the outcome of the 1896 presidential election (they cost William Jennings Bryan the Presidency), and today offer the collector of exnumist material a chance to compile an unique piece of American history.

Oak Island - Treasure or ???

"What's it worth?" - The question every new or non-collector seems to get around to when inquiring about a given token or medal. Instead of going into the explanation that the value is what a collector is willing to pay, we quote an impressive monetary figure and let the conversation proceed. But, what a collector is willing to pay is the true value and most of the time this price depends solely on the availability or rarity of the token or medal.

A scale I like to use is from:
The Official Guide to Confederate Money &
Civil War Tokens (Tradesman & Patriotic),
by Grover Criswell and Herb Romerstien - H.C. Publishers, Inc. N.Y., N.Y. 10001 - maybe it will be of value to some of our members in deciding on a price they want to pay ---

- RARITY SCALE -

Available Quantities	Rarity
Over 2000	Very Common
Over 200	Common
50 to 200	Scarce

A PENTAGON MACKE ???

Maybe one of our membership can shed some light and give us some information and background on the item in the above drawing. It is 21mm in diameter, 1 1/2 mm in thickness, and made of aluminum; with a blank back. It was found by the editor while going through some "junk" in a antique shop in a southwest Michigan town. The shop's owner knows nothing about it or where it came from. How about it members: WHAT IS IT ????????????

OBITUARY NOTICE

News of the December 29, 1978 death of Frank D. Western #35, has reached your editor. Frank's interests included all types of exonumist material, and he was always ready to help anyone, newcomer or oldtimer, who ask his help in the field of his hobby. Frank will be missed by all who knew him, and the sympathies of the entire Mich.-T.A.M.S. membership goes to his family.

SUMMER PICNIC

Word from member Marie Johnson is that the annual farm picnic will be held the fourth Sunday in July this year. For the members who have never been; it is by far the best chance to get together with other fellow exonumists, so try not to miss it. I'll run a map and more details in the next issue of the "Junk Box".

MANY TOKENS RELATE TO AREA

(The following article was submitted by Vice-President Melvin Reiter. It is from the Ironwood Daily Globe, Ironwood, Michigan, Tuesday - October 24, 1978; and is reprinted with their permission.)

Upper Peninsula coin collectors may branch into a special field of collecting, the gathering of tokens and medals issued by U.P. cities and businesses, according to Bruce K. Cox, Wakefield.

Cox says an extensive array of tokens relate to Wakefield and the Wakefield area.

The Tula Lumber Company, located in what now is a ghost town off M-28 north of Wakefield, issued a five-cent token many years ago.

A token issued in Wakefield was good for five cents in trade at the Brotherton (Location) Saloon, operated by a Mr. Niemi. More recently, Clyde Denbo coined a wooden nickel good for a cup of coffee in his restaurant in 1970.

The Wakefield Historical Society issued 500 wooden nickels during Wakefield's golden jubilee in 1971 and Cox issued a wooden nickel during 1976 while he was operator of the Wakefield News Stand. The token was good for five cents off on any purchase.

Other Wakefield businesses which issued tokens in the recent past include the First National Bank and the Crossing Inn. The bank issued a 32 millimeter bronze medal used in a keychain celebrating its 60th. anniversary in 1970. The inn issued black plastic tokens good for 15 cents in 1975.

Three tokens relating to Ramsay are known to exist, Cox says. All three were issued by Fastelin's Bar in 1970 and were good for 15 cents, or 25 cents in trade. The 25-cent token still are accepted by the management.

Bessemer Last Inn, now the Booby Hatch, issued brass and aluminum tokens good for 10 cents during the years between 1965 and 1970.

Several interesting collectible items have been issued in Ironwood.

According to Cox, a facsimile of an 1861 Confederate note was printed by August Rintala in 1912. The advertisement on the back said Aug. Rintala will save you money on fashionable tailoring at popular prices. Perfect fit and high-class workmanship guaranteed.

Rintala's store was located on E. Aurora St. and was later taken over by Hedlund and Haapoja who called their business The Hub.

They issued a 39 millimeter aluminum token good for a dollar off on the purchase of a man's suit or overcoat.

Tim LaBlonde designed three medals which were struck to commemorate the first international ski flying meet at Copper Peak north of Ironwood in 1970. The medals were struck in nickelsilver, bronze and aluminum with aluminum still available, Cox said.

Ironwood chiropractor Emil Kuitunen had dollar-sized medals minted in 1971 marking 50 years of practice in the area. The medal were given to his patients.

According to Cox, the only medals he has been able to discover relating to Hurley is a 32 millimeter goldine medal issued by "The New Dells, Dine and Dance, Idele Morris, Prop., 100 Silver St., Hurley, Wis." The reverse side of the medal depicts several good luck charms.

According to Cox, a medal issued in 1971 and sold for a dollar each commemorates the visit of Father Jacques Marquette, a Jesuit missionary, to St. Ignace.

Other medals and tokens had a more utilitarian purpose.

A bronze token good for 25 cents in trade was issued in Marquette in 1949, marking the centennial of that city. Brass tokens with four scallops on the edge were issued by Joe Lesh at his Hall Saloon about 1920 in Ahmeek, a small village 16 miles north of Hancock. Each was good for five cents in trade.

A Baraga resident, A. Gauthier, issued a token good for 10 cents in trade, also about 1920, Cox said.

A 32 millimeter copper token bearing the insignia of Michigan Technological University was issued there in 1960. The token was good for 50 cents in trade in Houghton until noon on Aug. 15, 1961. The tokens were sold for $1 through the mid 1960s.

100th. BIRTHDAY

Vice-President Mel Reiter sends information of interest to most Mich.-T.A.M.S. members (and Michigan residents).

The State Department of Management and Budget in Lansing has issued a medal commemorating the 100th. birthday of the State's capitol building. One side of the medal states: 100th. Anniversary Commemoration/ State Capitol Bldg., Lansing, Michigan -- With the dates 1879 - 1979 under a picture of the building.; the other side depicts the State Coat of Arms encircled above by the state motto "Si Quaeris Penninsulan Amoenam Cirrumspice" and below by the state's slogan "The Great Lake State". The 38 mm medal is blue-anodized aluminum with a reeded edge.

Jerry Lorencen, who Supervises the capitol tour guides, says, "There is no way to get one of the medals other than taking a tour of the Capitol." Mel informs us that around 300,000 persons tour the capitol each year and 500,000 of the medals were minted.

Looks like a good year to tour the Michigan Capitol Building...

HELP NEEDED

Your editor would like to be informed of any incorrect addresses, mis-spelled names, or members who are not receiving the "Junk Box". I also need address for Robert A. Dewey. Membership #4.

I would like to note that membership #517 is held by the Missouri Numismatic Society, P.O. Box 2829 - St. Louis, MO. 63111; they are soliciting back issues of the "Junk Box" to add to their numismatic library. If you have extra back issues, drop them a line, maybe you can help.

MEDALS AND RIBBONS

On August 7, 1782, General George Washington ordered the Badge of Military Merit given to officers and men alike who displayed unusual gallantry or extraordinary fidelity and essentry service. This heart shaped badge of purple cloth edged with narrow lace would be, on Feb. 22, 1932, the 200 th. anniversary of Gerorge Washington's birth, re-designated the Purple Heart. This military decoration is the first to be made available by any nation to fighting men of ALL ranks, and continues as a cherished token of respect and esteem of a nation to her fighting men.

Collecting Military Medals and Ribbons is a very challenging and rewarding experience. The following list is from, UNITED STATES MILITARY MEDALS AND RIBBONS by Philip K. Robles - Charles E. Tuttle Company, Rutland, Vermont & Tokyo, Japan., Copyright in Japan, 1971. It is as complete as possible and includes the medals and ribbons of the Army, Air Force, Coast Guard, Marine Corps, Navy and Merchant Marine.

DID YOU KNOW ?

Button collecting is one of the fastest growing and most popular hobbies today. A collection of 25,000 to 30,000 buttons is considered quite ordinary, and no respectable collection would contain buttons dating later than 1900.

The highest price B. Max Mehl, the famous Fort Worth, Texas Numismatist, was paying in 1936 for encased postage stamps was $12.00. He was paying this for the J. Gault - 90¢ - Patent Aug. 12, 1862. The lowest price was 50¢, paid for the Drake's Plantation Bitters 1¢.

EDITOR'S NOTES

I have not received everyone's response to the call for votes for the changes in the Mich.-T.A.M.S.'s constitution. This is the last call for votes. Your votes must be sent to the editor by May 1, 1979, so the tabulation can be presented at the summer picnic.
